PRETTY STRAW HATS.

A VERY becoming hat is a rich yellow straw with a tall black crown. It has a pale green gauze ruching lying round and on the brim, with pink roses above and two plaques at the side. The back is lifted up to show the pink bonnet. One of the smartest hats seen is of yellow straw, but with low, well-fitting black straw crown. The flat brim is trimmed with a long trail of large acroplene red poppies, with green leaves and buds laid around from the front along the right side. On the left is a tall aigrette of poppies and a big ruffle bow of black satin ribbon. The brim is slightly raised to reveal a bow of poppy red taffeta ribbon set under against the hair. Another chic model of the sailor shape in rough cream straw, with modified bell crown, has a green moire ribbon head folded round it, veiled with green chiffon. The brim is lined with green chiffon just showing an edge of the straw. Bunches of large single violets adorn each side with a branch of leaves and buds rising high on the left and another lower on the right.

GOSSIP OF THE GAY WORLD

Pretty Marriage at High Noon in West Street Church.

Other Nuptial Events of the Season.
Whereabouts of Well-Known People.

West Street Presbyterian Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding today at 12 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Anna Stewart Kissinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kissinger, of No. 1632 Thirty-third street north-west, and Mr. Joseph A. Oliver, of this city. The bride, who is a strikingly pretty brunette, was daintily groomed in white mousseline de soie over white silk, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. The maid-of-honor were Miss Florence Kissinger and Miss Bertha Oliver, both of whom wore white Swiss dresses and carried bouquets of pink and red roses.

The bride and groom entered the church to the strains of a wedding march, which was rendered by Mrs. Isaac Birch, the organist of the Dunbarton Avenue Church, preceded by the ushers and the best man, Mr. A. M. Cook, Messrs. S. M. Long, Edgar Pettit and F. W. Duval.

Shortly after the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. C. Alexander, the young couple left for Baltimore to take the steamer for Boston, where they will visit relatives of the groom. After spending a few weeks in New York also, they will return to their new home, No. 3328 N street northwest, where they will be glad to see their friends. Mr. Oliver is prominent in Masonic circles, and is an officer of the Potomac Boat Club.

Mrs. James G. Turner, No. 1830 Gales street northeast, accompanied by her family and her niece, Miss Julia O'Connor, have left for Philadelphia to visit friends.

The few champagne to have been given at Newport last night by Mrs. Brice, and to which the entire summer colony and many permanent residents were looking forward, had to be postponed until this evening, with a promise of a still further continuance until tomorrow, on account of the terrible storm.

Miss Ella Louise Kelly, of New Hampshire avenue, will leave this evening for a protracted visit to her aunt, Mrs. V. B. Wedderburn, at Topeka, Kan.

A "fete party," consisting of Miss Louise Adams, Miss Bessie Powers, Miss Julia Stevenson, and Messrs. Walter Holden, John Porter, J. B. Ekins, and Arthur Bright, spent yesterday afternoon in the woods along the Rock Creek road, hunting for mosses and ferns. The gentlemen carried a hamper, which, upon their return, was filled with the trophies of their search.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McLaughlin, No. 723 Sixth street northwest, gave a musicale Tuesday evening in honor of their cousin, Miss Helen McLaughlin, of Chambersburg, Pa. Light refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Miss Laura E. Puttland, who has been spending the last two months at Catlett, Va., has returned to her home, No. 607 Third street northeast.

Miss Emily Ward of this city has returned home from a visit to New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

Mr. H. H. Moler, of the Pension Office, left last week to join his wife in Denver, Col. They will return in November.

Miss Bertie Reichenbach, of Eighth street, is visiting friends at Hyattsville, Md.

Mrs. Theodore Wasserbach, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Alice, and son, Arthur, have returned from Virginia Beach, and are now staying a few weeks in the mountains of Virginia before returning.

Mrs. Torbert of Mount Pleasant has returned from a pleasant visit to Ashbury Park.

Mrs. Edward Anderson and daughter, Miss Nona Thompson of Rockville, are spending a few weeks at Atlantic City.

Miss Maggie Haywood of O street is visiting her cousin, Miss Mac Rodgers, in Hyattsville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lynch and family, of Brookland, will return next week from their camping expedition in Culpeper county, Va.

Miss Alice Bain, of Massachusetts avenue, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Eaton Brooks, in Brookland, has returned home.

Miss Helen Walsh, of Corcoran street, is enjoying herself at Atlantic City.

Miss Emma Grace Forbes, daughter of Mrs. A. M. Forbes, No. 115 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and Mr. Clinton Hollingsworth Davis, of this city, were married last night at 9 o'clock in the parlor of the parish hall of Trinity Episcopal Church, by Rev. A. M. Rich.

The ceremony was a quiet one, the only witnesses present being Miss Margaret Forbes, sister of the bride, and the groom's brother, Dr. J. Wilson Davis.

The bride was dressed stylishly in a traveling cloth of marine blue, with hat and gloves to match. She was unattended by maids.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for Baltimore, and this morning will proceed to Niagara Falls.

girl renowned in the camp for her beauty, and the second, ten roubles in money and a wealthy and beautiful widow. These tempting prizes induced many of the male inhabitants, some of whom were already married, but desirous of taking another wife, if they could get her cheap, to take part in the races. The first prize was won by a young tribesman, to the great joy of the bride, for they had long loved each other, but from poverty had been unable to marry. The widow, however, was less fortunate, for she fell to the share of an elderly married man with a large family, whom she positively refused to look at or to follow, but who is determined to have her none the less, even though he should have to apply to the Jorky verbal court.

Hats Off to Her.
Miss Phoebe Vinton, who has recently retired from the employment of the Hamilton Woolen Mills at Southbridge, Mass., worked there continuously for forty-four years and six months. All that time she worked in the same room and operated the same set of four looms.

Good Run for a Woman.
The champion lady billiard player of the world is Miss Grace Fairweather, of Nottingham, England. Up to the present her largest break is 62, and she is reasonably safe for a 30 or 40 run.

"MESSIAH" WEBS AN ANGEL

Schweinfurth Resorts to Marriage to Escape Prison.

AUTHORITIES AFTER HIM

His Wife Now Incompetent to Testify Against Him—In Order to Close the Lips of Other "Angels" He Arranges Matches for Them Also—A Confession Two Years Ago.

Minneapolis, Sept. 10.—George Jacob Schweinfurth, the self-confessed bogus "Messiah," has taken to himself a legal partner of his joys and sorrows. The bride is the "boss" angel of his Rockford "heaven," Lady Aurora Ismah Tuttle.

Their two children, "Prince Ariel of the House of David," and "Princess Berthe of the Lord's Dominion," aged eleven and twelve years, respectively, stood flower girls along the bridal path and added their congratulations to those of the elect who have been summoned from all the branch "heavens" to witness the breaking of Schweinfurth's elixir that there shall be no marrying and giving in marriage.

But Schweinfurth is not alone in forsaking single blessedness. Four members of his flock will follow their shepherd later on. After the minister or justice of the peace ties the knot which binds the "Messiah" and his chief "angel," his sister, Miss A. Marie Schweinfurth, will be joined to Albert C. Telf, the blessing bride is thirty-two, her illegit but twenty-four.

THERE ARE OTHERS.

Couple No. 3 will then step forward to go through the mill. Will Weidman is the groom, and he will confer his name on Miss Bertha Olson. He is thirty-eight and she twenty-nine years old. Among those who are now at the Whitney domicile here waiting for the triple wedding is Miss Mary Weidman. Her seven-year-old daughter, whose parentage she ascribed to the Holy Ghost, while testifying before a grand jury, aided the Tuttle children in their task of strewing flowers. Maggie Weldon and Maggie Telf. When the "Messiah" and Lady Aurora are married, that will destroy any testimony it might have been possible to have secured from her. In Illinois a wife cannot testify in a criminal case in which her husband is defendant.

Perhaps Schweinfurth would have disposed of the other two women by marrying them, also, could he have done so without jumping from the frying-pan into the fire, and getting himself indicted on a charge of bigamy; but as it was, he did the next best thing by arranging to marry Maggie Telf to young Weidman, a proceeding which is well calculated to keep her mouth closed while she is on the witness stand. Her husband is a believer in the story of the child she bore while in the "heaven" is a son of the Holy Ghost, and any other admission on her part would be apt to cause trouble in the family.

As for Mary Weidman, the State's attorney gave up all attempts to get any testimony out of her long ago. There is in the little town of Byron, near Rockford, a man named Eddy, to whom Schweinfurth made a confession two years ago. Eddy is willing to testify to this, but his evidence will be about all the State will have when the case comes to trial.

SAW THE VIRGIN MARY.
MOSES DEPUCE, a well-known farmer of Pahquagary township, Warren county, N. J., had an experience a few days ago that caused him to turn white, and that produced such a change in his looks that his wife hardly knew him.

He is a veteran fisherman and went out early in the day to follow his accustomed habits. The morning was hazy and exceedingly hot, and as the old gentleman was in the act of hauling in a fine bass he heard a peculiar noise up the river. He says a huge white cloud arose apparently out of the water. It floated upward several hundred feet and seemed to be abate with light.

Suddenly the cloud parted in the middle and the most beautiful saint-like figure appeared. It was the form of a woman. Her face was radiant with brightness, and the most beautiful golden tresses fell in heavy waves over the marble-like shoulders. She was robed in spotless white, the loose garment seeming to fall far below her feet in graceful contour.

He declares that the apparition bore a striking resemblance to the Virgin Mary, whose likeness he had often seen in art galleries. Then the cloud floated away in the shape of a cross. Mr. Depuce is not superstitious, neither does he drink.

HOW TO CLEAR A TABLE.
S O few maids know how to clear up a table expeditiously, for it is really an art. Teach to your servants the first thing. Take the silver first, knives, forks and spoons, and pile them in a pan and pour boiling water over them. Then gather up the cups, saucers and small dishes, piling them neatly after emptying the contents. Next take the plates, removing all remains of food from them with bits of waste bread. Lastly, carry out the glassware, which should be washed immediately after the silver, and in clean, clear, warm water. Insist that the dishes be washed in clear, hot water, without soap, and rinsed in hot water. If the water is not hot the grease will adhere to the china, and it will not come out by rinsing. Soap can be used for the kitchen utensils. It is not necessary for any of the other dishes, however.

MRS. BOOTH PLEAD FOR HIM

The Salvation Army Leader Interceded in the Case of an Ex-Convict.

She Interceded in Baltimore in Behalf of S. O. Speed, Indicted for Forgery.

Baltimore, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Ballington Booth, who is vice commander of the American Volunteers, the new organization formed after a split in the Salvation Army, came to Baltimore from New York yesterday to intercede in behalf of Samuel S. O. Speed, under indictment here for forgery and obtaining money by false representations.

In 1894, while Speed was a teacher of mathematics in Baltimore, he forged the name of Mrs. R. E. Woodmont to three checks, one for $250 and the other two for $100 each. The $250 check was passed on Louis Goldman, 107 North Eutaw street.

Before he could be arrested Speed left the city and went to England. He remained abroad a short time and not long after his return to this country he was arrested in New York on the charge of stealing a satchel from the Astor Hotel. Detective Hall went to New York with a requisition to bring the man to Baltimore, but Speed heard of this and pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing the satchel. For this he was sentenced to two years in Sing Sing.

While in prison Speed took an active part in the religious work there. He became acquainted with Mrs. Cyrus W. Field and Mrs. Booth and assisted them in their work among the prisoners. Mrs. Booth became interested in Speed. He was released from Sing Sing last July, but Detective Hall awaited him outside the prison doors and brought him to Baltimore.

During the few hours she was in Baltimore yesterday Mrs. Booth was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cascard, at their home at Roland Park. She had a talk with Judge DeLozier, concerning Speed's case, and said she would find employment for him in New York that would enable him to support himself and his wife. It is understood that Speed will plead guilty to the charge of obtaining money by false representations and that the charge of larceny will not be pressed. He will probably receive a jail sentence.

Speed is an Englishman, about thirty-three years old, of good appearance and much ability. His wife is a native of Virginia. The couple lived in Baltimore for several years prior to Speed's flight from the city.

DON'T DRUG THE BABIES.
T HAT if there is one thing that should be "talked down" more than another, it is the way some mothers have of pouring stimulants cordials and narcotics down their infants on the slightest provocation.

That drugs should be administered only by those who understand their nature, and for some definite purpose.

That in many instances serious consequences have resulted from the ignorant administration of what was supposed to be harmless drugs, for the purpose of availing the "drowsy" "colic," and other aches and pains that are supposed to follow each change in the weather.

That very few mothers realize that opium, so often used in medicines for children, is a poisonous drug; but so it is.

That four grains of crude opium has proven fatal.

That two drachms of laudanum will prove fatal.

That the average fatal dose of morphine, in one not accustomed to it, is two grains.

That infants are more susceptible than adults.

That one drop of laudanum has been known to kill an infant, yet mothers will continue to give it.

That the danger from these drugs is usually given to infants is obvious when we know their composition.

That every fifteen drops of laudanum or wine of opium contains one grain of dried opium.

That paregoric contains two grains of dried opium to the ounce.

That in opium lozenges one-tenth of the entire weight is dried opium.

That we cannot have healthy, intelligent children if we blunt their intelligence and destroy their health by dosing them with stimulants and drugs.

SWEETING A ROOM.
W H Y is it that so many housewives find sweeping one of the most difficult of household duties to perform? Because hardly one woman in 100 sweeps a room intelligently.

It is a needless amount of work to sweep an apartment more than once a week if the work is once thoroughly done. A little brushing up every day, using the carpet sweeper, will remove all incidental rubbish and keep things fresh and neat.

No room can be well swept with the furniture remaining in it. Each movable piece should be dusted and set in an adjoining room, where it will be safe until the room is ready for use. Big muslin slips put over the stuffed chairs are an aid. After clearing the room open the windows, brush down the walls, scatter about a little damp salt, and begin sweeping at one corner of the room, taking short strokes and brushing toward the center of the room.

Remove all dust from the outside blinds and wash the windows while the dust is settling. All the highly polished articles of furniture should be gone over with a piece of soft chamamo to brighten them up.

THE DAY'S DISH.
Eggplant With Nuts.
Cook a large eggplant ten minutes; cut into halves, scoop out the center, leaving a wall about one inch thick. Chop the pulp and mix it with four tablespoons of bread crumbs, twelve chopped almonds, or one-half cupful of peanuts. Season with salt and pepper and fill in the shells. Stand them in a baking pan, cover with a piece of greased paper, and cook slowly in the oven until soft.

Washing White Silk.
To prevent white silk handkerchiefs turning yellow when washed, no soap should be rubbed on the silk, no soda should be mixed with the water, and the handkerchief should on no account be boiled. A hot, thick, soapy lather should be used for cleaning the handkerchief, which should afterward be freed of all soap by rinsing in plenty of cold water. It should be dried, if possible, in the sun.
